

Cameron Chino

70 German Blvd, Yaphank New York 11980 | \(631\) 235-9431 | cameron.chino@icloud.com

Summary

Being amongst the first in my family to graduate from college, and doing so from a single parent household, has cultivated within me the ability to pursue my goals independently. Academic excellence and service to others are my two core values; during my time at Stony Brook University, I successfully managed to balance coursework with assisting others, both in the university hospital as a volunteer in the patient education department, and at the university proper as a teaching assistant. I hope to apply to medical school in the 2026-2027 cycle; I believe that my core values will help me both in the path to become a physician, and in my eventual career.

Highlights

- GPA
- Self-driven
- Has teaching experience

Volunteer and Work Experience

Stony Brook University Hospital- Stony Brook, NY

October 2018 - 2020

- Volunteered in the Patient Education department April 2025 - Present
- Visited patients in their rooms and assisted them in signing up to the hospital's patient portal

Open Door Exchange- Port Jefferson, NY

July 2025 - Present

- Volunteered to help people lacking resources to obtain furniture for their living areas
- Worked directly with those in need, as well as clerical tasks around the storage warehouse

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistant; General Chemistry

Fall 2017 - Spring 2018

- Held office hours weekly; assisted students with homework, course information, test prep, etc.

Teaching Assistant; Cellular and Organ Physiology

Fall 2019 - Spring 2020

- Assisted professors in lecture
- Held office hours weekly; assisted students with homework, course information, test prep, etc.

Research

Research Assistant; Dr. Xi Chen

July 2025 - Present

- Maintained correspondence with study participants
- Scheduled and administered cognitive testing, fMRI scans, etc. on study participants

Education

- Graduated from Longwood High School- Middle Island, NY
 - Received an Advanced Regents Diploma

Spring 2016

- Graduated from Stony Brook University- Stony Brook, NY
 - Received a Bachelor of Science degree in Biochemistry
 - Graduated Magna cum laude, with a cumulative GPA of 3.82

Spring 2020